

NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL AND TECHNICAL STATE UNIVERSITY

SEC. II – MILITARY-AFFILIATED 2.0

CALL TO DUTY: ACADEMIC CREDIT AND WITHDRAWAL

UNIT POLICY--ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

The general University policy for students serving in the National Guard or Reserves who are called to active military duty, or active duty military personnel who are reassigned during an academic term, is to provide a full withdrawal from the University without academic penalty (grade of "W" for extenuating circumstances). In addition, the normal policy of converting a grade of incomplete ("I") to a grade of "F" after 12 months is suspended. This portion of the policy will apply only to courses in which the student is enrolled at the time that the student must report for active duty. Upon post-deployment return to the university, an adjustment in the date for resolving the incompletes will be made according to university procedures. For students who do not return to the university within three years of post-deployment, any incomplete or "I" assigned for a call to duty will convert over to a military withdrawal.

A student who must report for active duty while enrolled in a term or semester at the University is subject to established academic regulations when returning, but will be given every consideration for readmission in the same academic status as at the time of the withdrawal.
